Photography Permission Form Educators
Connecting Research to the K-16 Classroom.

The team of teachers of Educators Connecting Research to the K-16 Classroom (ECRC) is proud to announce the collaborative agreements that we enjoy this summer with Howard County Recreation and Parks, the National Museum of Natural History in Washington D.C. and the Smithsonian Tropical Research Institute of Panama and the Smithsonian Environmental Research Center of Maryland. After nearly 10 summers of building exciting hands on activities for young people, the preceding organizations have asked ECRC to write up our activities and film them for possible production and publication to a worldwide education audience. With your permission we will be shooting video and still images of the camp activities.

Specifically our goal is to document the activities digitally . . .

1.) Without naming any campers by name in the video or still images.

2.) Make the images available to you at the end of camp.

3.) Organize the activities to produce and publish "lesson plans" for other teachers to use. The digital galleries to be produced will be part of the lesson planning.

We emphasize again that if you do not want your child photographed, we can assure you that we will film and not include your child in the images. Thank you for considering this request.
